

The Merton Primary School

To be the best we can be.

With some children now needing to self-isolate at home and other may be at home due to school closures, various organisations in education, health and care have been pooling resources together in order to provide helpful ideas for home-based activities, including mental and emotional well-being for all the family. Most are for primary-aged pupils but some are suitable for secondary pupils too. I hope that these are useful for you:
